"Candy" homecoming theme; freshmen win float competition

This year's homecoming was another exciting event for students, staff and town. The building of the floats kicked off the excitement. Students battled to build the best "Candy"-themed float. Students participated in the week long tradition of Spirit Week, which was ultimately conquered by the seniors.

At half-time freshmen were named winners of the float competition and Danielle Schoeny was crowned the Homecoming Queen for the class of 2005. The Rockets struggled to defeat the Red Hawks and sadly lost the game 21 – 53. Left: The honor of Parade Grand Marshall for Homecoming 2005 went to Mrs. Maryanne Elbers

This year's homecoming Court included Jessica Hayward escorted by Zach Bierlein; Maddie Bierlein escorted by Kyle Lintern; Queen Danielle Schoeny escorted by Jeff Fielbrandt; Kelly Radka escorted by Matt Bierlein; and Melanie Bierlein escorted by Doug Prell.

The Class of 2005 announces its:

Class Colors: Blue and Silver

Class Song: "I'll be there for you"
-Theme from "Friends"

Class Motto: "Life is a garden, so dig it!"

To the Class of 2005:

It just seems so strange that we'll soon be graduating. It honestly feels like yesterday that we walked through the doors of Reese High for the first time. Many classes have come into Reese as individuals, emerging as one group. However, I truly think our class has gone against the grain in that aspect. We walked into Reese High as a group of juvenile, many times primitively immature, freshmen, and somehow transformed into mature individuals, avidly showing who we really are.

We're clowns. We find it easy to laugh at our own mistakes, while celebrating our triumphs. We now joke that we have seen only two homecoming parades, due to the simple fact that our sophomore and junior homecomings came fully equipped with a typhoon warning for the greater Tri-City area. Although Mrs. Krauss and Mr. Seeger blackmailed the float judges so we could never build a winning float, we showed excellent school spirit and won the spirit award at all but one pep assembly. Not only did we laugh, but we were ecstatically proud when one of our own took it upon himself to moon the school bus of our arch nemesis, USA. I believe we're the only class that has been able to watch two different football teams fight their way to state semi-finals. We've also watched two amazing students, Danielle Schoeny and Nate Pike, be crowned Homecoming Queen and Coming-home King, respectively.

We complain—a lot. First of all, we're the class that never actually got to go on a senior trip because no one wanted to travel to the location we had all voted on. We complained about sixth hour announcements being excruciatingly long, yet we were outraged when they were cut out completely. We complained that the parking lot was never plowed in the winter, but as much as we complained, nothing was actually done. And although it was never plowed, can you believe that no one was hurt while walking that tough twenty feet into school?

Because we fight for what we think is right, we persevere. We've made it through so many changing events these past four years. Although no one actually admitted they liked Mrs. Weier, we all really did miss her after she retired. And somehow we all survived the transition from Mrs. Weier to Mr. Kiser—two hardcore principals (ask anyone who doesn't follow the dress code), yet each is unique in entirely different ways. Throughout these four years, we've also seen many world-changing events. About a week after we all came together as freshman, we sat in our second hour class and watched two planes crash into the World Trade Center, marking the start of the Iraqi War. We've seen gas prices more than double—take a look at our freshman yearbook; in it is a picture of Speedy-Q with unleaded gas at $1.07! We watched as the Pope died, while some of us, months before, had somehow planned a trip to Italy that coincided with that event.

We've seen so many changing things, and still we remain strong individuals; because of this, we will succeed. We all have different dreams and goals. In a few months, we will all be graduating and embarking on a journey through the rest of our lives. We are all shooting stars, and everybody is just waiting to see where we may someday land. We've all grown so much, as individuals AND as a class. I think we're all going to go far in the world, but we must always remember ourselves as the RHS Class of '05—the class that went from mooning the USA bus to shooting for the moon.

Yours always,

Melanie Bierlein

Prom-goers captivated by "One Moonlit Night"

Seniors presented with a memorable prom; Students enjoy music and dancing

Another successful prom took place on April 30, 2005 in Curtis Hall at SVSU. This year's prom theme was 'One Moonlit Night' and it was truly a spectacular event. Prom-goers enjoyed a wonderfully decorated hall, delicious food and a night of dancing. The great music was once again provided by Mr. Fuerst. Many memories were made at this year's prom. After a fun filled night at SVSU, many students headed to St. Elizabeth's Parish Center for a fun and safe After Prom Party.

The boys belt out "Friends in low places" by Grath Brooks for the fans.

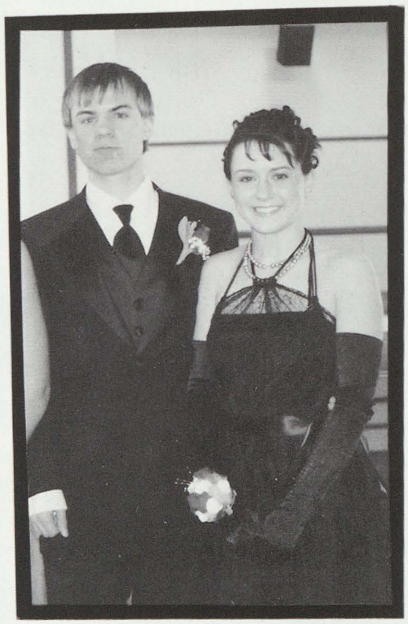
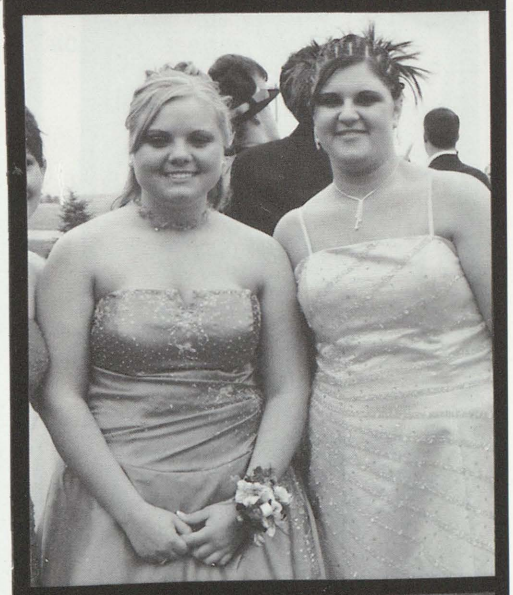
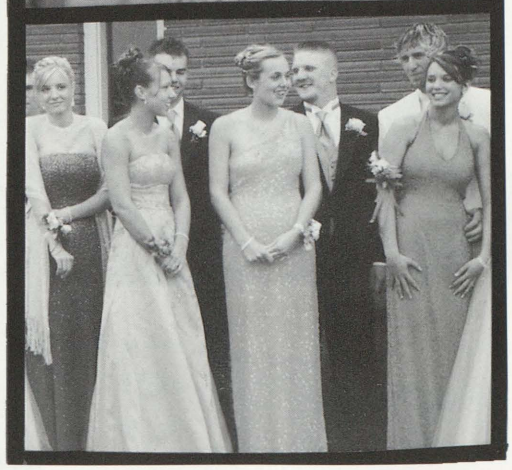
The men of the senior class line up for a picture before heading off to a fun filled night at Curtis hall.

Rachel Fritz and Kristal Davis grin ear-to-ear before heading to prom.



Garrett Kwaiser and Rebecca Younk look happy to be at prom.





After-Prom party a huge success

St. Elizabeth's once again site for early morning fun

What a great time was had by all! Held at St. Elizabeth's Parish Center, the after-prom party was very successful.

There was food, gambling and numerous prizes. The entertainment for the night was a hypnotist. Everyone left with a great prize and a smile on their face. We students would like to thank all the parents for their hard work.

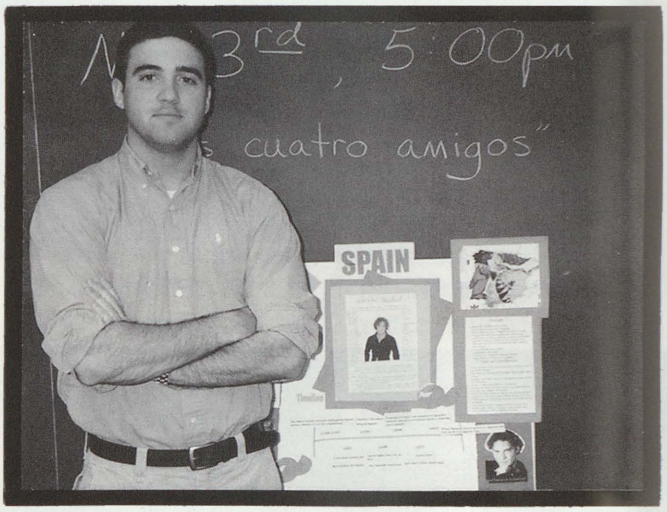
Teachers change the shape of the school.

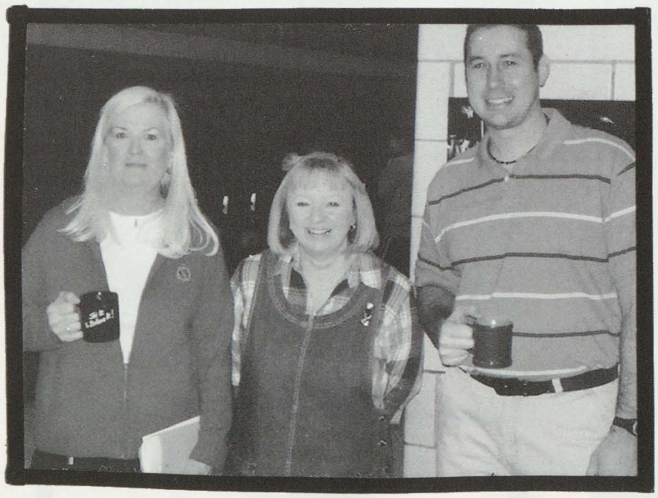
This year began with some changes to the RHS faculty. We gained a new teacher, Mr. Brunner, who brought a new class with him a Spanish class, and Ms. Muselin got married this fall and is now Mrs. Almassy. Mrs. Connelly missed the first couple weeks to have twins, Lucas and Grace Connelly. Welcome Mr. Brunner and congratulations to Mrs. Almassy and Mrs. Connelly.

Mrs. Allwardt logs onto her computer to help some students find a book they want to read.

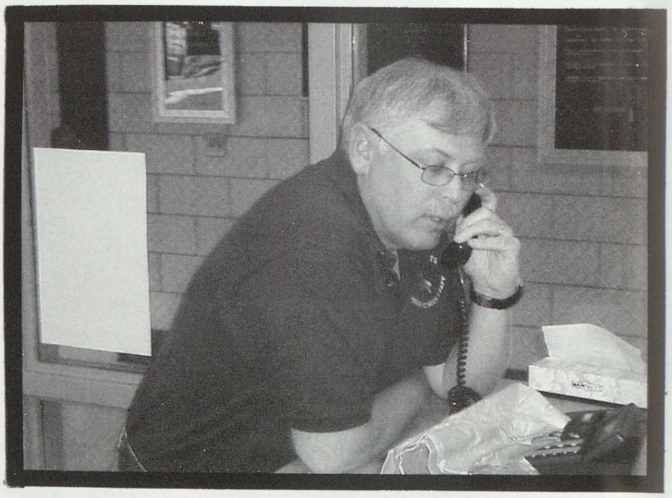
Mr. Brown works on a car during auto shop so it can leave class in perfect condition.



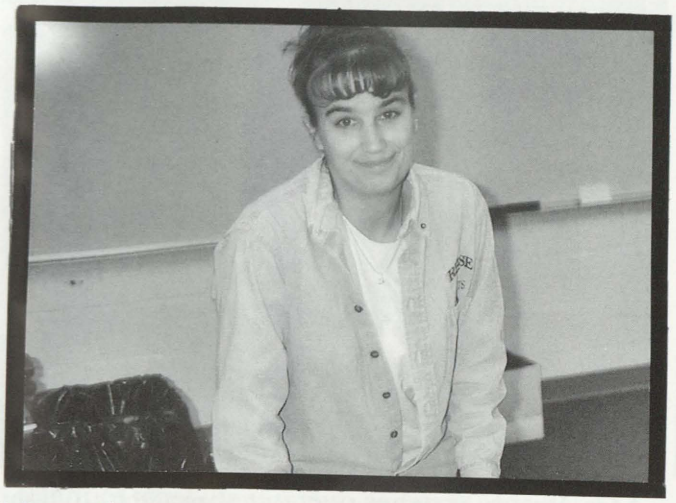
Our newest teacher Mr. Brunner watches his class while they do a test.



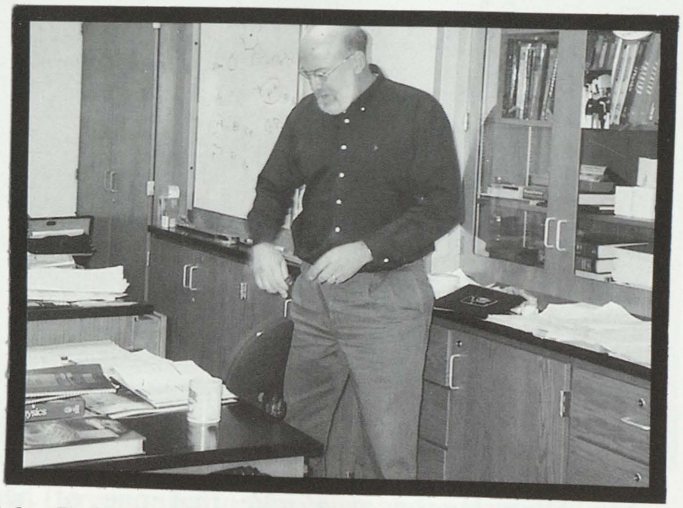
Mrs. Smith, Ms. Landskroener, and Mr. Manning wait for classes to begin.



Mr. Elliot makes a call in the office to see where one of his students is.

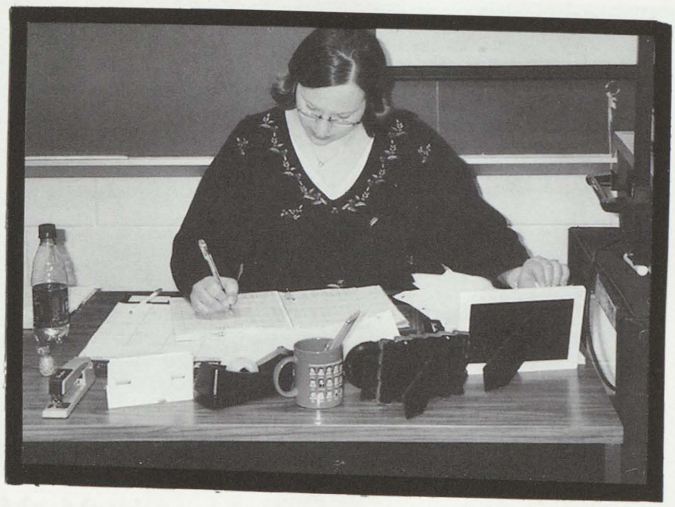


Mrs. Almassy stops for a second to have a picture taken for the yearbook.

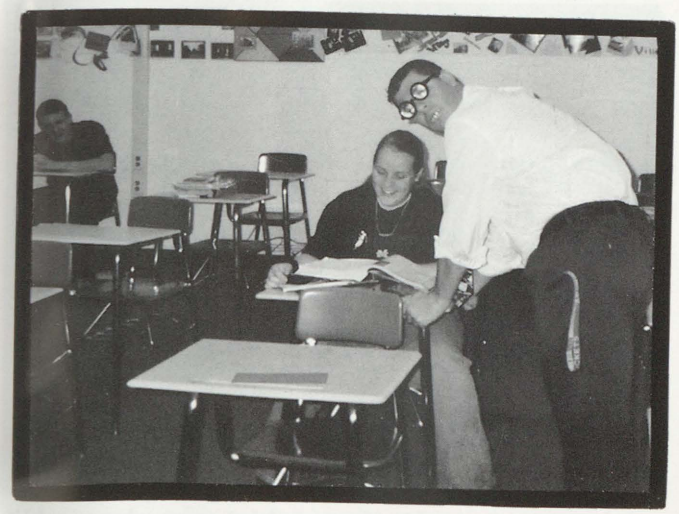


Mr. Behmlander does a demonstration for his chemistry class.

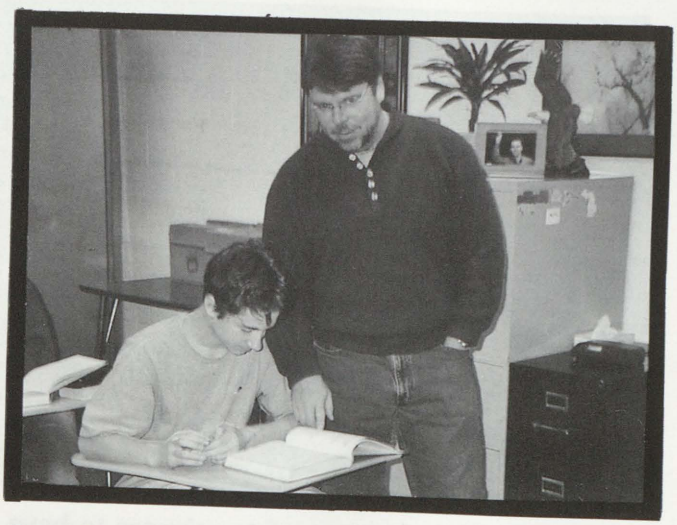
Mr. Casler guards Jonathan in a practice game in his class.



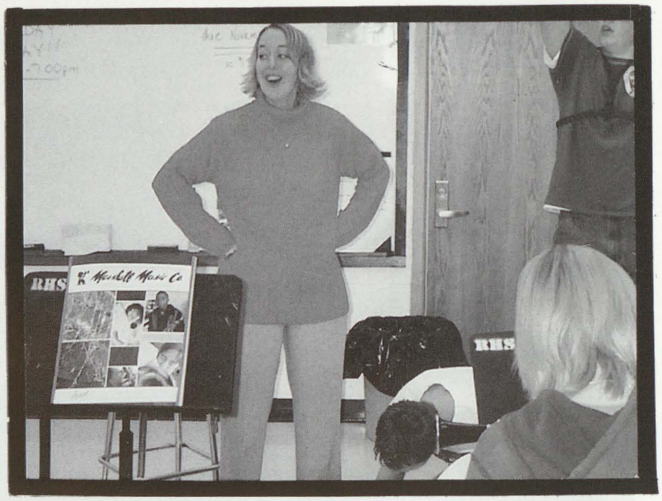
Mrs. Connelly works diligently on grades for her math classes.



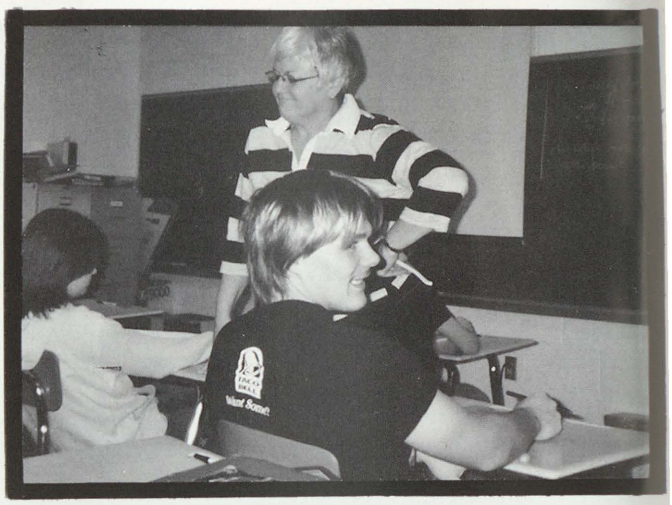
Mr. Fuerst makes learning history fun with one of his famous follies.



Mr. Hannah helps one of his students on some of his work.

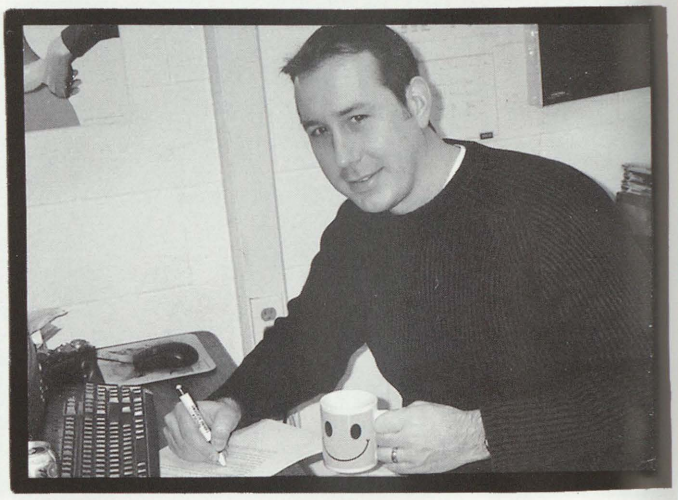


Ms. King laughs at a joke that one of her students played on another student



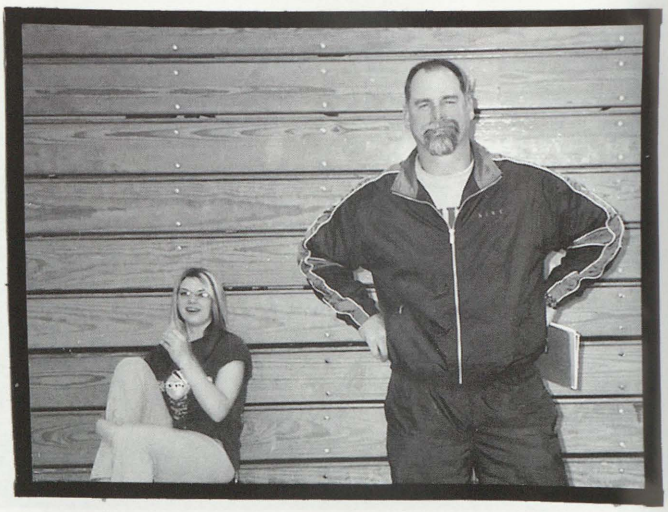
Mrs. Krauss watches over her students to make sure that they are all working on their work.

Mr. Lefler thinks about how to say the next word in his biology class.



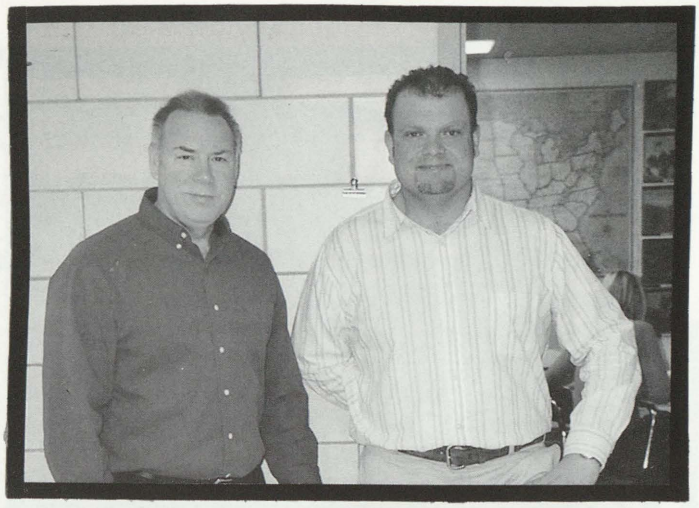
Mr. Manning works on some papers for his forensics classes.

Ms. McLellen gives us a few minutes to have a picture taken for the yearbook.



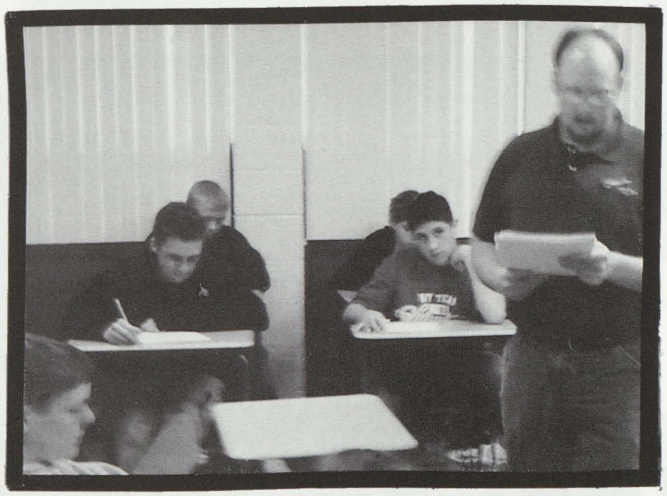
Mr. Saylor watches over his gym class while they are playing a basketball game.

Ms. Landskroener takes a break to have a picture taken for the yearbook.

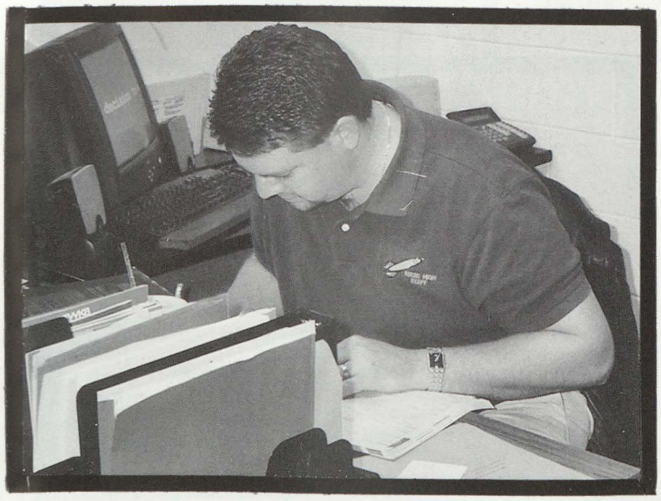


Mr. Larges talks to Mr. Sage about how well we did on the last track meet.

Mr. Matuzak helps out on his own yearbook class by having a great picture taken for it.



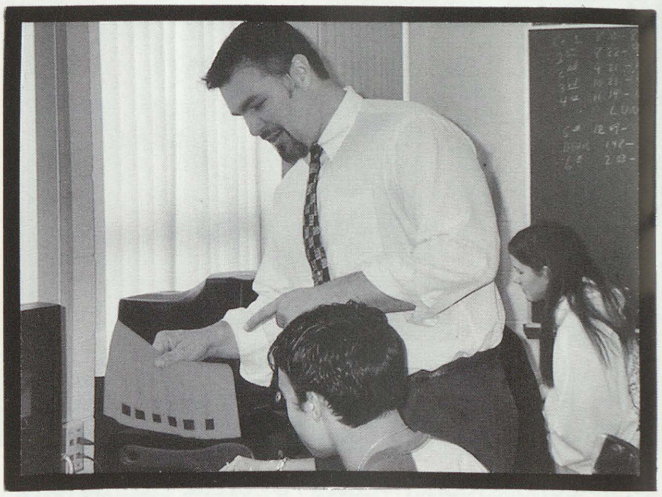
Mr. Matzke reads the answers to a test to his class so they know how well they did on it.



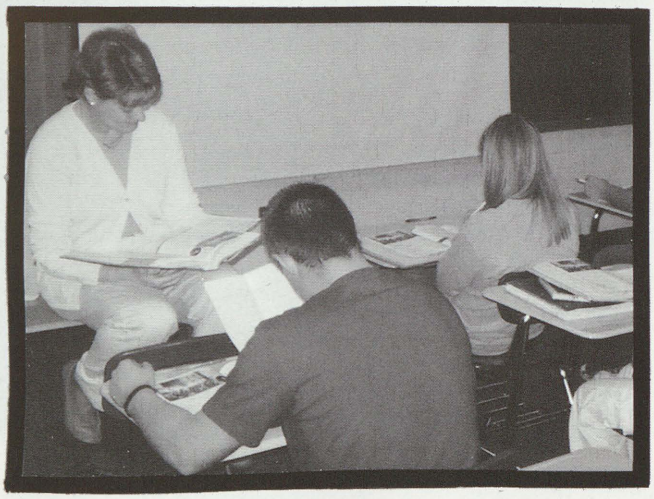
Mr. Seeger tries to get grades done for his math classes for viewing the next day.

Mrs. Shepherd is singing while playing the piano in choir.

Ms. Stephanie Thompson pays Mrs. Smith for her trip to Hawaii.

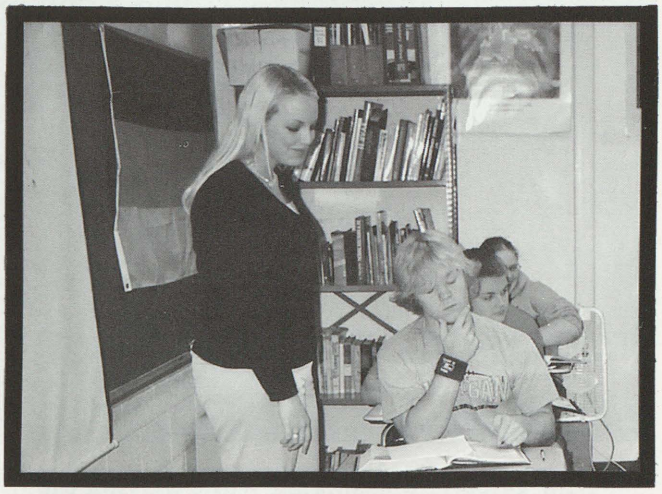


Mr. Terbush helps a student do research for his persuasive speech in Communications class.



Mrs. Vosler discusses the chapter with her class so they can take a test on it tomorrow.

Ms. Elbers and Mrs. Schluckbier, teacher aides, talk about what they are doing in their classes.

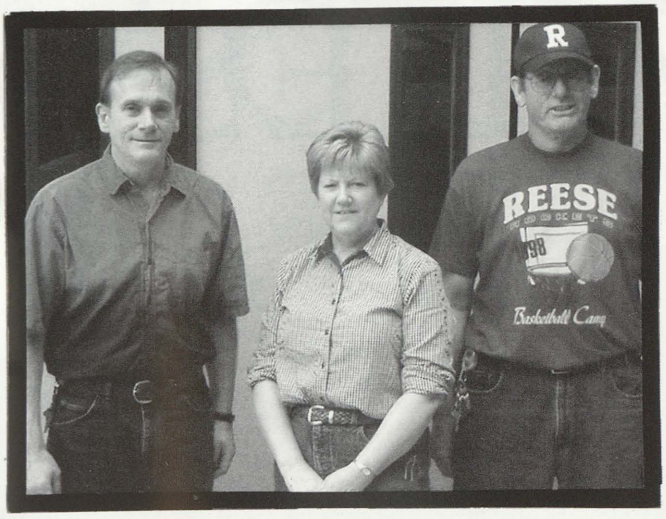


Ms. Green, a student teacher for Mrs. Vosler first semester, helps Matt Chapman on his homework.

Mrs. Fielbrandt waits for the students that are going to be in detention today to arrive.

Lunch ladies and custodians work hard all week

School lunches and a sanitary environment are a top priority at RHS



Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Krieger, and Mr. McCaulley work hard to keep our school clean and looking new.

Amy Hill delivers another strike.

Melissa Burgess provides the final pitch to pick up the win.

Right: Sarah Andrus looks at the sign given to her before she steps into the batter's box. Above: Kelsey Richards hits her first home run against Valley Lutheran.

6 myths

About your local community college

Myth No. 6

Delta College is cheap, so it can't be any good. You get what you pay for.

We prefer to say we are affordable. Not cheap. Cheap is the toy you talked your mom and dad into buying at the circus. You know the one. The lighted laser wand of energy. Which broke before you reached the parking ramp. In Delta's case you don't always pay for what you get. Delta College is supported with money from three main sources: the state of Michigan, the local property taxes, and your tuition. The last one is the smallest. If you paid the full cost of what this quality education is worth, you'd be paying a lot more each year. Would that make you feel better?

Congratulations to all graduating seniors and continued success for all students

Our family owned and operated funeral home is dedicated to supporting our community with thoughtful friendly service at the most reasonable cost possible, with dignity and respect. It his our hope that you will also support your community and always strive for the utmost quality in all that you care about. In your venture through life may the road rise up to greet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the sun shine warmly upon your face and the rain fall soft upon your fields. And may God always be with you.
